

THE DAILY BEE COUNCIL BLUFFS. Tuesday Morning, April 21. SUBSCRIPTION RATES. OFFICE No. 12 Pearl Street.

MINOR MENTION.

The river yesterday was seven feet above low water mark. The Bee's new office is now having its front painted up so as to be in keeping with the refitting and furnishing.

Two fishing and hunting parties, one from St. Joe and the other from Leavenworth, are camping near the cut-off lake.

In the case of Gilfeather against the city a bill of exceptions was filed yesterday, the city appealing to the supreme court.

Permit to wed was yesterday granted to P. T. Bingham, of Elbert county, Col., and Miss Margaretta C. Taylor, of this county.

Henry Reynolds, of Dunlap, has rented "the blue barn," on upper Broadway, and will occupy it about the first of the month.

Parks & Platner have leased the store in the Shugart block, lately occupied by Lutz & Lange, and will take possession about the first of June.

One of the street gang yesterday laid down his shovel and skipped out, having tired of working for his board. It is cheaper for the city to let him go.

AUCTION SALE, FURNITURE.—My household goods will be sold at auction, at 10 o'clock, Tuesday morning, 21st inst. H. E. SEAMAN, 116 Fourth street.

The signal service station in Onaha is said to be arranged not only for storm signals to be placed in various parts of that city, but to extend the system to Council Bluffs.

It is rumored "the mayor of my city" has written a private letter to parties here, in which he declares that on his return home he will close the saloons, and turn republican again.

George R. Mann, the architect of the court house and jail, yesterday sketched out the site for the new county jail and made other arrangements so that ground could be broken and building commence.

There was trouble again with the sewerage at the city jail. The pipes got stopped up easily, and there are so many defects that the speediest way would be to abandon the old pipes and start in anew.

The police have received notice of a reward if they will find Henry Childs, of Low Moor, Iowa, who is supposed to have wandered away from home while suffering from mental aberration, and who was last seen at the transfer here.

Mr. Wescott is arranging to move his trunk factory into the basement of the Shugart block. His enterprise is a comparatively new one here, but he has been meeting with success and proposes enlarging facilities and extending business.

A. M. Boardley, the chairman of the committee on transportation for the meeting of the pharmaceutical association here, has arranged with the railroads so that delegates paying full fare one way are to be returned home at one-third the regular rates.

Edward McCarthy, who has been suffering for a long while past with consumption, died early on Sunday morning. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss. The funeral services will take place at 9 o'clock this morning from the Catholic church.

Facts worth remembering when you buy Wall Paper: 1st.—That Beard, next door to postoffice, has the largest stock to select from. 2d.—That his prices are as low as the lowest. 3d.—That he is a practical interior decorator and employs none but skillful workmen.

Artists' Materials at G. R. Beard's Wall Paper Store. Send for price list.

Cruel Gossip. An exceedingly quiet rumor is abroad that William Kennedy probably came to his death, a few weeks ago, through the aid of some other agency than a natural cause, and that certain parties are about to be arrested on suspicion. A vigilant hunt has so far failed to draw out any particulars more than is authorized that he was worth $40,000 and that only $16,000 is so far accounted for. Where the balance is, if there was such an estate, is yet in the dark.—Council Bluffs Herald.

The above is most cruel bit of gossip, such as the young man who is trying to learn the newspaper business on that fortnight sheet is alone capable of. The family and their friends are quite indignant that such a thrust should be made, with no shadow of truth to it. The administrators of the estate say they never heard of such a rumor, much less of there being any facts warranting such a report, and it seems that the fresh young man who wrote the above must have been either fooled by some gossip, or else he is determined to fill space even at the risk of repeating innocent hearts, and in doing so to repeat more than his own. The paper will probably apologize, as usual in such cases.

Real Estate. The following is a list of real estate transfers filed in the recorder's office of Pottawattamie county, Iowa, as unrelayed by A. J. Stephenson, abstractor, real estate and loan agent, Council Bluffs, Iowa, April 20, 1885:

Thomas K. Huff to Citizens Bank, of Oakland, part lot 1 block 6, Oakland, $1,500.

Franco Mohat to Maggie Nasen, part lot 14 block 56, Walnut, $1,000.

O. R. I. & P. R. Co. to Sarah Whitcomb, et al, lot 3 block 3, Carson, $300.

Wood—Good supply prices at grade, 6 00/6 50.

Total sales, $3,800.

SETTING THEM TO WORK.

Tramp. Tramp. Tramp the Tramps Come Tramping in Troops of Thirty.

Yesterday an unusual sight was presented in the superior court. There were about thirty tramps, filling up the whole room inside the rail, and giving Judge Aylworth such a job as he has not had in many a day, it being necessary to sift them out by inquiring into each case separately. This gang was gobbled up in the Wabash railway yards on Sunday, they having been hanging around there for some time, greatly annoying the railway folks. Of all the crowd not one would plead guilty, and the judge had to determine what to do with them by asking each for a brief biographical sketch.

The stories told were varied enough to suit any lover of romance and fiction. The fellows hailed from all over the known world, and from some that wasn't known. They varied in age from 17 to 70, and no two were alike except in being dirty. Some of them appeared to be really willing to work, but a number were of the genus tramp, sure.

One old man, whose hair was white as snow, excited sympathy. He came from New York, where he had a son, and had been working on the railroad, and getting tired of the work was trying to work his way back. Another gray-haired man gave his age as 33, which was a surprise party, as he seemed to be at least past the three score years.

The others were younger and more vicious men, and all seemed able to earn a living. One of the boys, 17, insisted that his name was Charlo Ross, but not the missing one, although he was a runaway. He claimed that his folks were on a farm near Hastings, Neb., and as he had rather do anything than work on a farm, he had left home, and for a year had been travelling about, working a little while here, and a little while there. One of the crowd had the additional charge of against him of larceny, he having stolen a cabbage. This heinous crime was lumped off with the other. One confessed that he had been working for two months at $1.50 a day, and had used the money for drink. One claimed to have walked all the way from Kansas City here.

One young man said that he had been out with his brother, who owned a rancho of 4,000 acres in California, and was now trying to get back to his folks in New York, who, he said, were very wealthy.

"Where is your home?" asked the judge one fellow. "In Rochester, N. Y.," "What did you do there?" "Well, I worked first on the New York Central for a year and a half. "When did you leave Rochester?" "Oh, about twenty-two years ago." "Where have you been since then?" "Well, I have been moving on the railroad, and getting lowing up public works." That satisfied it and this fellow was told to stand aside.

Another one narrated how he had worked for four weeks digging a cellar in St. Jo, and had drunk up the money, and then started out to find another job. One had been at work in Central America, for Fort Barron, and getting the mountain fever had come away from there and after being in the hospital at New Orleans, had got well enough to resume his travels, and was now returning from a visit to friends in Leaville.

One boy told a very touching story about how he had been working in a mill, sending his spare money to his widowed mother in Chicago, so that now he was out of work and had no means to help himself. One young man from Rek Oak was among the number. He had lived there nine years, and was a cook by trade. He had been working a little while here, but getting out of a job, and out of money, he was with the gang, trying to get a ride to Red Oak.

The judge sorted out ten of the crowd and sentenced them to ten days work on the streets, and the others were turned loose. One of the chosen was very irate and blurted out, "Who have I done?" "Nothing. That's what's the matter. We propose to give you something to do." He did not seem to be much better satisfied by this answer, and went off grumbling to join the others on the street gang.

There is enough work about the city, cleaning the mud off the pavements, etc., to keep a number of men busy, and it will be far cheaper for the city than to board these men and let them be idle. The setting of them to work will also be apt to deter regular tramps from hanging about the city.

QUEER NURSING.

How a Drunken Attendant Tortured Small-Pox Patients.

There was a civil case in the superior court yesterday which brought out some interesting testimony in regard to the treatment of the small-pox cases last winter. The suit was Dr. Bellinger against Mr. Neumeier, the proprietor of the Coy house, the doctor claiming $160 for attending him when he had the small-pox. Mr. Neumeier claimed that the doctor was simply attending a county case, in the same room, and that he did not engage him to attend him, and that he received no care or medicine from him. In setting this difference some lively facts are incidentally brought in. It appeared that a nurse in attendance was so drunk as to abuse the patients under his charge, not only neglecting their wants but threatening them with violence, so that they took turns watching the nurse, sitting up all of some nights lest he should do them some harm while asleep. This fellow, whose name was Colleser, would raise one end of a bed and then let it drop suddenly, so as to give the sick one a jar, and annoy him. It was also testified that he would build such a hot fire in the room, and then go out and leave it, and that there was danger of the place being burned up. Things got so bad that Mr. Neumeier had to threaten to throw the fellow out in the street, unless the authorities took this nurse away. Colleser said that it was not until he was taken to the pest house. This statement in connection with the other revelations of the care of patients, during this small-pox time, shows that affairs were very poorly handled, and there should be some lessons learned, which will prove valuable in case the small-pox should ever appear here again.

NEW WHITE GRAPE NIAGARA! Copy of a part of a photograph of a NIAGARA vine, planted 1875, as it appeared Fall of 1880 with 63 clusters weighing 20 lbs. on 48 in. bearing wood

1st.—The Niagara ripens in favorable seasons at Lockport, Aug. 20th. 2d.—It never drops from the stem if left to hang till frost comes, and improves in flavor the longer it hangs. 3d.—It is purely native, and therefore hardy. Has stood 33 degrees below zero without injury. 4th.—Bears a good crop the 3d year and often the 2d, and is a regular bearer, and no waste, as bunches are compact. Never fails to ripen its crop as the thick foliage foliage holds even to the base of the canes until frost kills it. 5th.—Vineyards are in bearing in various sections from Georgia to the Northern Lakes and Canada, and from Kansas to the Atlantic coast, there being more than 1,000 acres planted within the last five years, and over 200 acres were planted at Brockton, Chautauque Co., N. Y., last spring, 1884; John Martin alone having 47 acres; the largest vineyard of Niagara, being planted at Highland, Ulster Co., N. Y., by Sam'l Rogers, Esq., which contains 80 acres of this one variety, and he has realized from 20 to 30 cents per pound for his fruit, while Concord grows in the same locality brought from 3 to 6 cents only. 6.—All parties planting vineyards have signed a contract to return all the wood and cutting every year back to the Company up to, and including 1888; so it has been the sole owner of all the stock, and no one but the Company and its authorized agents can sell and deliver genuine Niagara vines. So all persons should examine agent's certificate of authority, and see that it has the corporate seal of the Company attached, and every vine that it has a lead seal attached, bearing the impression of the Company's registered trade mark. 7th.—We now offer for the first time, strong 2 year old vines at retail at $2.00 each without restrictions, to be delivered on and after March 1st, 1885.
